NEW ROW IS FACED BY DAVEY

Sandusky Veteran Home Superintendent Ousted by Welfare Directress

ECONOMY IS REASON

So Another Civil Service Fight Is Brewing

Columbus, O., March 31.—(AP)—Another Civil Service ouster fight brewed today for Gov. Martin L. Davey's administration with the 9-day suspension of Commandant Perry L. Null of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Sandusky and abolition of his wife's matron job.

Preparing to relinquish his post as Lieut. Col. John V. Volka of the Ohio National Guard, Null asserted at Sandusky he would appeal to the Civil Service Commission.

"I don't know what it's all about," he said, "but both Mrs. Null and myself intend to fight to retain our positions as both are under civil service."

State Welfare Director Margaret Allman ordered the suspension without pay for disciplinary reasons appointed Volka acting superintendent, and instructed him to cut the home payroll $1,000 a month. The January payroll was $1,872.

She said that if an investigation of the institution disclosed sufficient evidence she would make an attempt to remove Null. He has held the position since 1921.

Mrs. Allman's action, paralleling some respects the start of ouster proceedings against former Ohio penitentiary warden Preston E. Thomas, climaxed numerous incidents at the home housing 884 war veterans.

Governor Davey's investigating board reported that 204 Mansfield reformatory prisoners employed there did work "alleged to be done by employees." Assistant Welfare Director Oakley Spaght called any home residents "a bunch of lazy whelps" and asserted they could not work. He later apologized.

Null received $2,800 a year and his wife $460. They had free living quarters and maintenance, including food, medical and dental services, and use of an automobile.

OHIO RIVER FLOOD CONTINUES TO DROP

LEAN-UP BEGINS AS SOON AS WATER RECEDES

Cincinnati, O., March 31.—(AP)—The Ohio river continued its trend toward normal stage today, with prospects of a quickened pace by daylight and as it did so, Cincinnati joined other flood-visited communities in the task of "cleaning up."

The stage dropped close to 57 feet, four feet less than the peak recorded last week, but still five feet above flood level.

W. C. Devereaux, flood forecaster here, predicted the stream would fall a foot or more at Louisville, Ky., where yesterday it was stationary at 65.3 feet. Flood level here is 57.

V. C. T. U. Anti-Roosevelt State President Asserts

Columbus, O., March 31.—(AP)—Delegates to the executive conference of the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union protested today the establishment of a reserve officers training corps at Ohio University, and denounced the national administration for its and on the prohibition question.

"The W. C. T. U. members cannot vote for President Roosevelt, the man responsible for repeal, and then pray to the Lord that prohibition be realized again," Mrs. Viola Romans, state president, declared.

Resettlement Program Follows Reforestation Project in East Ohio

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—The Rural Resettlement Administration said today it has two land buying programs, involving the removal of 134 families, in three Ohio counties.

In Ross and Hocking counties $99,000 has been allocated to purchase 13,500 acres of sub-marginal land which will be converted into forests and wild life refuges.

In Vinton county, $135,000 has been set aside to acquire 16,000 acres of poor farming land.

So far, officials said, options have been accepted on 10,800 acres in Ross and Hocking counties, and 12,000 acres in Vinton, but no titles have been acquired.

In Ross and Hocking Counties, 83 families are to be resettled on better land. On the other project, 51 families are to be moved.

Officials said it was possible some of the families might be resettled in Fayette County.

It was pointed out that to date only appraisals and options have been made and the project has not yet been finally approved in Washington.

REVOLT BREAKS OUT IN PLOT TO SEIZE LAREDO CITY, TEXAS

ONE KILLED, 4 WOUNDED IN POLITICAL FEUD.

Laredo, Tex., March 31.—(AP)—An attempt to seize control of the Nuevo Laredo city government caused a gun fight today in which one man was killed and four badly wounded.

The outbreak was attributed to a political feud between two rival factions.

A group of men gathered during the night in the vicinity of Hidalgo plaza in the Mexican city and stayed there until just before dawn, when they advanced on the City Hall.

Policemen in the building were unaware of what was going on until they were ordered by the invaders to evacuate. The shooting resulted.

Policeman Leopoldo Esquivel was killed. Sergeant Luis R. Mendez, Policeman Salome Garcia and State Policeman I. Mata and Alfonso Moreno were wounded.

RAID FOR KARPIS STILL A MYSTERY

REPORTED ARRESTS NEITHER CONFIRMED NOR DENIED

Topeka, Kas., March 31.—(AP)—After a day of wonder as to whether federal agents had captured Alvin Karpis, "public enemy No. 1," in tear gas raids near Hot Springs, Ark., the Kansas highway patrol was informed last night the attempt was a failure.

Lieut. Col. Wint Smith, director of the patrol, who arrived at the farm house after the raid, telephoned his office and Frank Stone, his assistant, announced "Smith said he believed Karpis had been there but had left."

Hot Springs heard a report that a man and two women were taken from the house but the agents refused to confirm or deny it.

96 OHIO PRISONERS WILL GET PAROLES APRIL 1

London, O., March 31.—(AP)—Wednesday may be April Fool's Day to some, but 96 prisoners at the London prison farm hope that the state isn't fooling.

The 96 are scheduled to be released on parole, April 1, the largest number ever to have been freed at one time. Their departure will leave 1,404 inmates at the institution.

Each man will be furnished with a new suit of clothes, top coat and sufficient money to reach his home, if he claims a residence in this state.

KILLING DESCRIBED BY VERA STRETZ AT TRIAL FOR MURDER

Shot Illicit Lover, She Says, During Struggle to Repulse Advances

By DEVON FRANCIS

New York, March 31.—(AP)—Occasionally sobbing, Vera Stretz retold under cross examination today how she fatally shot her lover-employer, Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, during a post-midnight struggle in his luxurious apartment.

At one point Judge Cornelius Collins halted the proceedings until she could regain her composure.

The 43-year-old Gebhardt, she said, called her to his rooms on the ground that he was ill. When she began hunting for an electric pad, she continued:

"He was holding my elbow. He caught it and kissed my neck."

Miles O'Brien, Assistant District Attorney, asked her to demonstrate with an officer how Gebhardt held her. She did so, then covered her face with her hands.

"Did you object?" O'Brien asked.

"I did object."

She sobbed again, and a recess was called.

Previously O'Brien questioned her about the revolver with which (Continued on Page Six.)

Mussolini's Army Presses to Within Few Miles of Lake Tana, Source of Blue Nile and Water Supply of British Sudan in Egypt

By EDWARD J. NEIL

With the Northern Italian army, (Copyright 1936, By Associated Press) Gondar, Esiopia, March 31.—This important strategic city at the head of Lake Tana fell into the hands of an Italian truck column led by Achille Starace, secretary-general of the Fascist party today.

The mechanical cavalry roared its way southward along the Sudanese border, cutting off all northern Ethiopia from supplies which previously had been delivered over caravan trails from the Sudan.

This Italian drive is by far the most important international move yet made in the present war because of the significance to the British of the Lake Tana region.

Gondar is only a few kilometers from the head of Lake Tana, the source of the blue Nile and, subsequently, the Nile which gives the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan and Egypt its water supply.

It is considered likely that the next—and possibly the last—big struggle in the north will be fought in the vicinity of Quorom if Haile Selassie can gather an army together to make a stand.

PLANE DISAPPEARS IN MOUNTAIN SNOW

SEARCHING PARTIES PUSH IN TO NEVADA WILDS

Elko, Nev., March 31.—(AP)—Searching parties pushed through the deep snows of northeastern Nevada's rugged mountain country today in the hunt for a missing airplane and its three occupants.

The plane, piloted by Lieut. Newton Crumley, Jr., air corps reserve, left Reno yesterday for a flight to Elko. Passengers aboard were Irvin Delong and Harry Elliott, both of Elko.

Sheriff Charles Harper said the ship was reported heard near Line Mountain, 30 miles north of here, during the afternoon.

SOCIALITES CITED FOR LOTTERY FRAUD

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT TAKES HAND IN SCHEMES.

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—The Postoffice department today announced a "fraud" citation against the National Conference on Legalizing Lotteries, headed by Mrs. Oliver Harriman, New York society leader, and the Golden Stakes with which Al Smith, Jr., son of the former New York governor, is associated.

Karl A. Crowley, solicitor of the department, announced that a fraud hearing on the Golden Stakes would be held April 1, and one on Mrs. Harriman's organization, April 2.

The organizations have been ordered to show cause why they should not be barred from receiving mail because of using the mail in a lottery scheme.

Crowley announced the new hearings as the government opened its drive against "the legalized lottery schemes" this morning at a hearing on the case of the "Grand National Treasure Hunt" and the "Association for Legalizing American Lotteries, Inc." and others.

ILL AND IDLE STENOGRAPHER TAKES NUDIST COLONY JOB

Tampa, Fla., March 31.—(AP)—Helena Hardy, ill and jobless for several weeks, today was a full-pledged nudist stenographer under the shade of a moss laden oak tree on the shore of Lake Thonotossa, with nature's raiment as her "office dress."

A typewriter mounted on a table in the wide out-of-doors constituted the office furniture for the slender, 28-year-old brunette. She was an employee and nudist member of the American Gymnosophical Association which means "nudist colony" in practical application.

KIDNAP-KILLER TO DIE TONIGHT—LAST VISIT IS MADE BY HIS WIFE

No Legal Way to Avert or Postpone Electrocutation Seen—Last Minute "Confession" Is Possible, However—Warden Told Caustically to "Have Last Meal Sent to Condon"

By DALE HARRISON

Trenton, N. J., March 31.—(AP)—The iron nerve of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, with death in the electric chair only a few hours away, snapped today, but his sob-wracked story of innocence thrilled through the death house unbroken and unchanged.

"I am innocent," cried the condemned Lindbergh baby killer, even as final tests were being made a few feet away of the chair in which he is to die shortly after 8 o'clock for the shocking crime of the Sourland hills.

His last hope was gone. The pardons court, which could have saved him, refused to do so. Gov. Harold C. Hoffman, who dared political disaster in an attempt to solve the Lindbergh case in the face of a Flemington jury's verdict that the case was already solved, said he would not again interfere.

Defense counsel apparently were without any legal way to turn to save him, but had not given up hope.

His prosecutors were unchanged in their conviction that Hauptmann and Hauptmann alone, was guilty as proved.

In the face of it all, and with the knowledge that a confession or partial confession was his only hope of escaping the chair, the 36-year-old prisoner cried out today to Col. Mark O. Kimberling:

"I am innocent! but I am not afraid to die."

"Any change in my story would be a lie," he told the warden.

Hauptmann was weeping when Col. Kimberling went to him in the death house this morning. The former German machine gunner and one time petty criminal in his native Germany, had slept only fitfully through his last night of life.

He spent much of the time between 10:30 last night and 5:30 this morning pacing his cell, talking about his family with his guards, and writing a letter to his old and impoverished mother in Germany.

It took Col. Kimberling nearly five minutes to calm the sobbing prisoner. Hauptmann was crying as a man stripped of all hope cries.

"The state will never solve the case by sending me to the chair for I am not guilty," Hauptmann was quoted as saying, in a written report submitted to the warden by his guards.

"He said he wished he could appeal to the public over the radio and say that if anyone knows anything about the case, let him come forward and tell," the guards' report added.

"He said he wanted his son (Manfred) to grow up and be honest and know his father was innocent. He said he got convicted for having money without knowing what kind of money it was."

When asked about his last meal Hauptmann declared to the state prison warden:

"I'd like to have that last meal sent to Dr. Condon."

He was referring to Dr. John F. Condon, the Bronx professor who paid a man he identified as Hauptmann the $50,000 Lindbergh kidnap ransom money in a Bronx cemetery.

Hauptmann ate no breakfast.

Not so, Charles Zied, the Philadelphia gangster who will precede Hauptmann to death in the chair tonight. Zied ate heartily of cereal, eggs, potatoes, toast and coffee.

C. Lloyd Fisher, chief of defense counsel, called on Hauptmann during the morning and said later:

"It looks very bad, but until the sentence is carried out, I wouldn't say that I have given up hope. While there's life, there's hope, and you can't tell what might break in our favor."

Hauptmann had braced up considerably, Fisher said, since his collapse with Colonel Kimberling, and told him he still had hope.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, who visited her husband yesterday, will (Continued On Page Six.)

BANDITS GET $3,000 IN B. & L. HOLDUP

Newark, O., March 31.—(AP)—Two masked men robbed the Johnstown Building and Loan Co. of $1,500 to $3,000 shortly before 1 p. m. today and fled northward toward Croton in a small (Plymouth) coupe.

Only two employees were in the loan company office at Johnstown, 20 miles north of here, when the robbers entered. The two, Byron B. Ashbrook and George Upham said the men flourished pistols, forced them to lie on the floor, grabbed the cash and fled.

The bandits, according to announcement over the State Highway Patrol radio, used the same kind of a car and the same license used in an attempted hold-up of the Ashville bank on January 28, but at that time were frightened away.

The car used was stolen in Gallopis a short time before the attempted robbery at Ashville.

AMERICA'S ECONOMIC RECOVERY MAKING PROGRESS BUSINESS SURVEY SHOWS

Best Spring in 6 Years Anticipated by Analysts as Shopping Begins

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Copyright 1936, By Associated Press)
New York, March 31.—(P)—America's economic recovery has forged ahead in the quarter of 1936 ending today, leading business analysts generally to anticipate the best spring in six years.
Despite an exceptionally severe winter and spring floods in the face of fresh political and economic tension abroad, and uncertainties incident to vital legal and legislative decisions in Washington, commerce has continued to expand.
Steel production has just risen well over 60 percent of capacity for the first time since the summer of 1930. Merchants of many cities report that Easter shopping already has swelled to the largest volume in several years.
Unemployment and relief roles still loom ominously large. Yet the stirrings of activity in heavy industry, still responsible for much of the nation's idleness, have become pronounced in recent months.
Automobile production, according to present estimates, ran well over 1,000,000 units in the first three months of this year.
The first quarter total is almost triple the low level of the like period of 1933, and is only about 30 per cent under the first quarter of 1929.

The effect of new manufacturers was notable during the first quarter of the year in use of electric power, which set a new high record, some 10 per cent over 1935, and all of 13 per cent over 1929.
Building, one of the laggard heavy lines upon which recovery hopes lean heavily, made pronounced strides.
The movement of freight appears to have gained about 5 per cent over the first three months of 1935, some 26 per cent over 1933, but held some 35 per cent under 1929.
Capital has continued to pile up in the investment markets, forcing gilt-edged bonds up to new high prices since the turn of the century.
During the first two months of the year, the stock market advanced almost steadily, reaching new highs since the summer of 1931.
The stock market developed hesitancy during March, reflecting in part some worry over war preparations in Europe, but failed to experience anything in the nature of a serious reaction.
Unemployment, according to the latest estimate of the national industrial conference board, still hovered around the 10,000,000 mark. This compared with an average of 10,136,000 during the first three months of 1935, and of 12,946,000 in the first three months of 1933, according to the board's tabulation.

Politics at Random

Washington, March 31.—(P)—Friends of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas today moved ahead to crystallize support for him in the Republican presidential convention next June.
Party conventions in Kentucky and Missouri yesterday registered further endorsements of the Prairie state executive who made an announcement that he seeks the nomination at Cleveland in June.
Republican party conventions of seven of Kentucky's nine congressional districts favored the Kansas. Kentucky has 22 convention votes.
Two more district delegates pledged to Landon were selected in convention in Missouri, bringing the Kansan's score up to eight, out of the 10 delegates so far picked.
Senator Borah of Idaho, avowed candidate for the nomination, continued his activity preliminary to the primaries in Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin. He planned to make a speech in Milwaukee Monday night, on the eve of the state ballot.
Borah supporters were active in New York state, which holds its primary Thursday.
William Ziegler, Jr., last night asked Governor Herbert Lehman to investigate a police raid on a Nassau county newspaper office where he said Borah campaign material was seized. District Attorney Littlton said several plates were taken from the office after a complaint that the Union label was printed without authorization on some of the plant's output.
Into the political picture also came talk of Labor party possibilities, after a survey by Francis J. Gorman, vice president of the United Textile workers.
While Gorman said he had no idea of putting a Labor party into the field in the forthcoming campaign, he said "Labor party clubs are being formed daily by union locals throughout the country."
President Roosevelt yesterday was assured Oklahoma's 22 Democratic convention votes when the state convention instructed the delegates to vote for Roosevelt and Garner.
DAVEY-YOUNG BATTLE NOW IN FULL SWING AS STINGING VERBAL BARBS HURLED BACK AND FORTH.
Columbus, O., March 31.—(P)—Political warfare between Governor Martin L. Davey and his opponent for the Democratic nomination for governor, Congressman Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, was in full swing today with the sales tax issue.
Governor Davey, referring to Young only as "a congressman," declared that "a congressman could make the demagogic appeal to abolish the three per cent sales tax, and yet that very congressman voted for the processing tax, that increased the cost of food and clothing 20 per cent."
"The congressman," Davey said, "helped to vote billions and billions out of the federal treasury and forced upon the nation the most colossal tax burden in its history."
Young, in an address in Cleveland, predicted that Davey would "within a week change his tune by announcing that he never was for the sales tax."
Davey said "I do not like the sales tax any better than you do." "I have never liked it," he said. "I wish very heartily that less objectionable forms of taxes could be found to take its place."
Young continued, "he will make the sudden discovery a little later that he is violently opposed to the sales tax and will claim that he is going to save the taxpayers $20,000,000 or $40,000,000 during his term of office and that the sales tax could be repealed and that no other tax would be imposed in its place."
"When I go in as governor," he asserted, "the sales tax, particularly as it applies to food, clothing and medicine goes out. It is cowardly tax. It is atrocious and indefensible."
SENATOR BULKLEY DENIES POLITICAL PRESSURE IN W. P. A. AS CHARGED BY DEPOSED DIRECTOR IN CLEVELAND.
Cleveland, O., arch 31.—(P)—U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley declared today that Waldo F. Walker, former county WPA director, was welcome to publish "any letters from me recommending persons for jobs" and said "there were very few of them."
His statement was a reply to Walker who resigned after Joseph H. Alexander, former Cleveland railway president, assumed the duties of director yesterday.
Walker issued a statement saying "there has been tremendous pressure to have political appointments made by various federal officials and others in this county. This is particularly true of Senator Robert J. Bulkley, Collector of Internal Revenue Carl E. Moore and Congressman Martin L. Sweeney. I would say the pressure they have exerted has been in just about that order."
Senator Bulkley has written repeatedly asking appointments for men who desired to be foremen, timekeepers and clerical employees. His correspondence with my office would make a large file.
"My policy has been that appointments were to be based on qualifications alone, and I carried that out to the best of my ability."
Senator Bulkley said "Walker was found by his chiefs to have failed to make good. I did what I could to stand up for him. They decided it was necessary to put somebody over him and he refused to take a subordinate position."
"He is welcome to publish any letters from me recommending persons for jobs. There were very few of them."

COL. HENRY BRECKENRIDGE, LINDBERGH'S ADVISOR, TO OPPOSE ROOSEVELT IN MARYLAND PRIMARY.
Annapolis, Md., March 31.—(P)—Col. Henry Breckenridge, New York attorney, filed today as a candidate to oppose President Roosevelt for the Democratic presidential nomination in the Maryland primary, on May 4.
The filing of the advisor to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh assured a primary contest in the state. President Roosevelt filed several weeks ago.
Breckenridge already has filed in New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania. He said he would campaign personally in the state from April 28 to May 4.

OSBORN QUILTS RELIEF POST

To Resume Work with Tax Commission

City Relief Director R. J. Osborn, Tuesday tendered his resignation to City Manager G. H. Sollars, to take effect April 15, so that he can resume his work with the Tax Commission of Ohio, at their office in Cincinnati.

Osborn was on leave of absence until April 15, and this week received word from the head of the commission to report for his former work on April 15.

He has held the post of relief director in this city the past six months, during which time the work has been somewhat strenuous due to heavy demands made upon the relief director.

It is understood that City Manager Sollars already has someone in mind for the post to succeed Osborn.

The police picked up a man Tuesday afternoon who was "dead to the world" and in his possession they found a pint bottle about two thirds full of denatured alcohol.

Question of Whether He 'Renounced Aggression' Irrks German Dictator

Berlin, March 31.—(P)—Adolf Hitler summoned his cabinet for a session late today—the day he had promised to deliver his counter-proposals to the program advanced by the Locarno powers for a settlement of the Rhineland crisis.

At the same time, Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's personal ambassador, was ordered to fly to London to take Hitler's proposals directly to Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary.

The contents of the Hitler memorandum were not immediately disclosed.

Hitler was reported greatly angered by what he interpreted as Flandin's questioning of his personal integrity in the French foreign minister's address to his constituents Sunday, directing searching questions as to whether Germany renounced aggression.

The foreign office organ, Deutsche Diplomatische Politische Korrespondenz, declared Flandin's strictures were an "insult" to Hitler.

Der Fuehrer was represented further as being opposed violently to any initiation at this time of discussions between the British and French army general staffs.

Informed sources even thought it possible that Hitler might call off his proposed offering of peace suggestions altogether unless he was assured that the proposed "interim negotiations" by the generals of the other two powers were definitely abandoned.

"CABINET CRISIS" FEARED IN BRITAIN

London, March 31.—Great Britain's awaiting Adolf Hitler's final reply to the Locarno power program for a Rhineland settlement, was reported seriously split today over the plan for military negotiations with France and Belgium.

Authoritative sources said Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's government reached a tentative decision to start next week the Anglo-Franco-Belgian defense conversations, proposed in the Locarno plan.

BURKE RECEIVES LARGE SHIPMENT

MANY TRUCK LOADS OF MINNESOTA GRANITE

Three large trucks laden with Rainbow Granite from the large quarries at Cold Springs, Minnesota, consigned to P. J. Burke, local monument dealer, reached this city Monday and were unloaded at the Burke warehouses in South Fayette street.

A truck load of the same kind of granite had reached here last week and another truck is now enroute from the quarries with a fifth load. Each truck hauls approximately ten tons of granite.

Some of the pieces arriving this week are huge monuments, already polished and ready for the lettering. Some of the other larger pieces also are polished. Others will be finished in the Burke shops, where a number of workmen are employed.

The rainbow granite is very colorful and attractive, as well as weather-resisting.

Fayette County's Answer

The people of Fayette county have cause to feel gratified over the total of their contributions for the relief of flood sufferers.

Through the Fayette county chapter of the American Red Cross the appeal for relief was made. That organization asked this community to contribute five hundred and fifty dollars as its quota of the vast sum needed to care for the flood sufferers.

That appeal was relayed by the local Red Cross chapter officials to the people and the response was so immediate and generous that the quota assigned to this community was quickly more than doubled.

The showing is one of which we may all be proud. It is the indisputable evidence of the sympathy which the people of this community have for those in distress, the promptness and willingness with which they answer the call of those needing aid and the generosity with which they give when they have it to give.

Many other communities, large and small, have not yet raised their quota and intensive drives are being made for funds even at this time.

The Dionne Quintuplets

Folks in this community have had the opportunity to see, in "talkie pictures" the most famous little girls in all the world, the Dionne quintuplets.

We have been asked many times how it is that the British government can take these quintuplets away from their parents and we have sought to obtain an authoritative answer, but so far have failed. Therefore we hazard this opinion.

The British government, which includes the Dominion of Canada, of which the quintuplets, and their parents, are native, has no written constitution as we have in this country.

There, the fountain head of all justice is the king, and the king, originally, had despotic power. Through the centuries that power has been reduced by the action of the people themselves in assuming, by custom, most all of the power formerly lodged in the king. That's the constitution—unwritten and made up of long established precedent.

The birth of the quintuplets was an event in which humanity was interested and, the parents being extremely poor, the king, exercising an autocratic power of which he had not been deprived by the constitution, took possession of them.

Should public sentiment express its disapproval of the action of the king then another one of the very few autocratic powers remaining to him would be gone and the British constitution amended, or added to, by one more precedent—that the king has no right to assume guardianship of quintuplets.

An Election

On Sunday an election, so called, was held in Germany which resulted in the approval of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's policies, including the remilitarization of the Rhineland, recently accomplished and which was the cause for the election.

The result, of course, of the voting, under the pressure of the Nazi propaganda machine and the military powers, was a foregone conclusion.

That so-called election was a strange performance because no one in Germany dares speak against Hitler or his policies, and no one, of course, dares to join issue on the correctness or the wisdom of his policies.

Consequently, in the voting farce conducted Sunday, there was no opposition to the Hitler policies. There was but one way to vote—vote an approval of those policies—and it was very dangerous even not to vote.

We wonder just what the opinion of the thinking people of Germany really is about the despotic rule under which they are living. Certainly the farce of it all must shock them.

Charles P. Stewart Says:

A FEW SIDELIGHTS ON INVESTIGATIONS

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, March 31—The Townsend plan, the American Telephone and Telegraph company and the big industries which have been arming in anticipation of labor trouble, have been getting considerable publicity out of pending congressional investigations.

The Townsend quiz might not be particularly damaging to the pension planners' cause if it were not for the split which occurred, just at the psychological moment, between Dr. Francis E. Townsend himself and the scheme's business manager, R. E. Clements. The Townsend-Clements rumpus has its aspects of the ridiculous, in that it is advertised as resulting from the elderly doctor's jealousy of his junior associate's growing reputation as the "real brains" of the plan. It was an incident, however, which perhaps would have blown over except for the investigation of the pension proposition, right in the midst of it, to keep discussion of it alive.

Briefly, the inquiry and the row coordinated in a way to do one another the most good.

MERITS NOT ON TRIAL

The investigation, in its nature, never was calculated to make out much of a case.

The Townsend program may or may not be workable. It is not disputed that the Townsends are entitled to advocate it, anyway. Its merits are not on trial before Representative Bell's committee. All that the committee is at liberty to determine is, "Is it a racket?" Few folk, if any, who have met Dr. Townsend, believe him to be a racketeer—mistaken, possibly, but honest.

Thus the investigation was not destined to get anywhere.

Nor would it have done so, except as a means of emphasizing the break between the doctor and Clements.

This break presents the Townsend plan in the light of a joke.

It is no advantage to a crusade to be broadcast as a joke.

DIFFICULT SPOT

The A. T. & T. is unlucky in having had its president, Walter S. Gifford, chosen as former President Hoover's first minister of economic recovery.

I was present at a conference of newspapermen with President Gifford, shortly after his selection to fight the depression, in its early days, and heard him argue for the maintenance of jobs and wages, to fight the then incipient slump.

Now he is revealed, as the head of a five-billion-dollar corporation, among the leaders of wage-cutters and employment-slashers of depression years.

At a time when the A. T. & T.

was making barrelsful of money, too.

MEEK

It was rather funny—that interview with Walter Gifford.

He was smoking a cigar. The newspaper boys pressed him pretty strongly. What was he going to do? His cigar kept going out and he kept relighting it.

Finally he put it in his mouth fire-end first.

There is this to be said for Gifford—

"On the pan," before a gathering of newspapermen or a congressional committee, he is reasonably meek. Some of his underlings are "sassy"; he has better sense.

"PRIVATE ARMIES"

Industry's "private armies" are disagreeably advertised by investigations into the coal and coke and steel trades.

They have been attacked on constitutional grounds in past times.

Their legality is doubtful.

Congressional inquiry proves that they exist, however.

INTERESTING

These congressional inquiries undoubtedly do uncover a great deal of information that is no body's business.

At the same time, some of it is very interesting.

OHIO ODDITIES

By R. C. HALL

William Bebb had a rather unusual career. He was of Welsh descent and born in what is now Butler county, Ohio, in 1802. He became a lawyer and was especially well known for his touching and effective appeals to juries. He was also successful as a politician and became Ohio's war governor during the Mexican war. He later went to Europe and conducted a number of Welsh settlers to Scott county, Tennessee, where they formed a settlement, which was destroyed by the Civil war. Mr. Bebb served as a pension examiner for President Lincoln and lent valuable service to the Republicans in the election of President Grant.

Dinner Stories

FOUND WANTING

A new minister was preaching from the text "Thou are weighed in the balance, and are found wanting." After the congregation had listened for some time, a few began to grow restless and went out; and others soon followed.

Stopping his sermon, the minister said:

"That's right, people; as fast as you are weighed, pass out."

No others departed.

High Spots In Ohio History

From the Galbraith collection of Ohio Histories. Written for the Associated Press.

The territorial legislature at Chillicothe received an urgent petition in 1799 from former military officers in Virginia, who were anxious to move upon lands in the Ohio-Virginia Military district, bringing their slaves with them. The majority of the delegates could not see how this might be done, and refused the request.

In December, 1802 a delegate convention held at Vincennes, Md., memorialized congress to set aside the compact which antagonized the movement. The petitioners asserted lifting the bar against slavery would mean the bringing of thousands of able, influential and wealthy men into the new territories.

The project was stopped in congress mainly by the opposition of John Randolph, himself a Virginian and a slave owner.

DISCONCERTING, NO. DOUBT.

Miami, Fla.—Whoever took a box from the automobile of Jack Dixon probably was sorry. The box contained "Jasmine," Dixon's pet skunk.

Neither police nor neighbors, strangely, had picked up the trail today.

BAD SPIRITS.

Dallas—Federal agents found 300 gallons of Texas corn liquor with such a wallop it knocked Uncle Sam out of a piece of money. A new law allows the sale of contraband booze at auction but this batch was so foul it was consigned to a sewer by Agent D. G. Coffman.

Oxford, O.—Mayor Vernon L. Pulley faced quite a problem today, all because someone is taking too seriously the adage "one good turn deserves another."

Last week, Mayor Pulley donated a dog license to nine-year old Leon Fitzgerald who asked him what could be done to stave off a visit from the dog-catcher.

Since then, Pulley sighed today, 13 children have visited him to ask the same question—and the end of the line isn't in sight.

HANDICAPPED.

Rock Island, Ill.—Judge John W. Heberling made it a trifle difficult for Roy A. Mansfield, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Rock Island county coroner, to do much campaigning before the primary election, April 14.

He sentenced Mansfield to 30 days in jail on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

APRIL FOOL'S DAY IN EUROPE

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

By JAMES B. RESTON

NEW YORK—I wish old "Butch" Vallee would cut it out. If he'll just stop going around swinging on people I'll be satisfied to have him keep on crooning, and before going further I'd like to point out that this is quite a concession on my part.

The papers said that Vallee swung on George White and missed. They put this on the front page too, and while I'm a little rusty on my news at the minute, just one more miss by the singer didn't seem to me to be front page stuff. Now if he had hit—that, gentlemen, would have been news.

In an era of almost unprecedented missing in the prize ring, it is noticeable that Vallee has distinguished himself in this regard as in most others. I've been looking up his pugilistic record, and in a long and undistinguished career, I can't find a single mention of his having landed one good blow.

But as an old publicity agent, I have great respect for his judgment. He has chosen the scenes of his battles with rare good sense: last year it was a theater in Atlantic City, next the Manhattan supreme court room, and finally the stage of the Winter Garden theater. Each scene provided infinite publicity and very little danger.

In Atlantic City he chose some rude little chump who disliked Mr. Vallee's performance and showed his displeasure by tossing pennies on the stage. In the court, during his recent divorce suit, Vallee brandished his fists and offered to punch his wife's attorney on the nose.

This move might have led to the abolition of crooning but for a very efficient bailiff who saved the star. And now, just when George White's "Scandals" was about to close, George and Rudy staged a quick scuffle, with George coming out, from most accounts, on top.

Ordinarily this fight would look pretty suspicious. It came at the start of the show's final week, and theatrical managers have been known to do more desperate things than punch their leading men in order to keep a show rolling.

But I can't imagine Vallee trouncing up a fight which he was to lose, and I can't imagine anyone having bad enough judgment to think that a fight between Vallee and White could possibly save this edition of the "Scandals." They could make the fight a 10-round affair in front of the footlights every night and it would still be worth less than the price of admission.

So with a "fixed fight" out this time, we can merely assume that Rudy was having another of his tantrums. Whatever prompted it, there's no getting around this fact: it was definitely minor-league business and both Vallee and White should be out of the rookie class by now.

'DANGEROUS'

CHAPTER 31

"HELLO, Selwyn. Are you busy?" Marsh looked up from his work, as young Gordon invaded the library through his favorite entrance.

"I'd like to be," was the unamiable retort. "The early morning is the only time I have left for work any more. If Wilma doesn't have the place running over with company, then she's making me do the honors for his highness. Thank God, they all sleep late. You've been pretty decent about taking that fellow off my hands," he admitted in a more gracious tone. "If you're looking for him now, he isn't up."

"I wasn't," Gordon helped himself to a chair and looked about the room. "How's your brain child coming on?"

"Not so good," was the moody reply. Marsh reached for his pipe, sucking noisily on it, as he held a match over the charred bowl. "This deal sort of has me upset. Here I was, making out a fine case against Albion . . . now I have to take time out to be decent to a Scotchman."

"Cramps your style," Gordon suggested.

"That's it. The two don't mix. That fellow has me guessing. . . . He scowled as his pipe refused to operate, threw it aside with a petulant gesture. "I don't mind telling you, Selwyn, I can't figure him. One thing . . . he's proved a pleasant disappointment. I supposed he'd be a damn nuisance, you know. Instead, he acts as though I didn't interest him so much."

"Yeah?"

"I reckon I should be glad of it. I've tried to draw him out, be decent on Wilma's account. Babbas is nobody's fool. He's been about a lot, talks intelligently enough. Sometimes, I almost like him . . . until he screws that cursed glass in his eye."

Gordon laughed.

"Yes, sir," Marsh continued. "I guess I'm no judge of his sort. What Wilma sees in him, I don't pretend to know. And there's Dorothy . . . completely sold on him. She saves by the hour over his foreign polish. You'd wonder how she's been content to live among us savages so long. What's your reaction?"

"Oh, he'll do," Sherman agreed indifferently. "If he suits Wilma, that's the answer. I don't have to marry him."

"You're lucky," Selwyn grunted. "That's one subject you're rather sensible about, anyway," he admitted. "Maybe."

"You are. Take the word for it of a man who's been through the mill. What the devil are you looking so glum about?"

"That's what I want to talk over," Gordon said, with sudden resolution in his face. He drew his chair closer. "I wanted to talk about . . . Miss Dahl."

"Miss Dahl!" Selwyn's hazel eyes widened in astonishment. Then he frowned. "What do you want to tell me? What has she done?"

"Nothing . . . except to make me lose my head. She's the first woman who ever did . . . like that."

"Good Lord!" Marsh reached for his pipe, rapped out the bittered hocco and began repacking it methodically. "Why tell me?" he demanded irascibly, searching his pockets for matches.

"Here you are," Gordon held out a packet. "Because I'm on a spot. To put it mildly, I like Miss Dahl more than any woman I've ever met. It was like that the first time I saw her. Don't you see?"

"See what?" The briar was sending out violent puffs.

"What I'm up against. It's a wonder she's even decent to me, the way I've barged in here at odd times and tried to see her. I've even waylaid her on the road. What else can I do?"

"You might try being rational."

"Listen. She's the sweetest girl in the world . . . and proud as Lucifer. More than that, she's your housekeeper. She's no business being anybody's housekeeper . . . except mine. But here's the point. I can't call on her, take her places . . . all the things I want to do. She wouldn't let me. That's what I'm up against."

He left his chair and began pacing back and forth on the rug with restless strides. "Devil of a fix. Isn't it?"

"Quite," Selwyn's voice was suddenly calm. "I take back what I said about your being sensible. You're a first-class fool."

"Probably. But that doesn't help much."

"And just what do you expect me to do?" Marsh's voice suddenly became querulous. "Fire her, so you can court her at leisure? Well, I won't do it."

"Hardly. She'd drop out of sight then. I don't want her to do that."

"Umph. Funny thing. Life was pretty decent up to a fortnight ago. First, it's this fellow Babbas. Now, it's you. Miss Dahl is the first calm note that has pervaded Fair Acres since I can remember. It seems to me. I don't know as I blame you so much, Selwyn, at that."

"I'm glad to hear you say so."

"No, sir," Selwyn continued unsmilingly. "Miss Dahl is a fine young woman. She's pretty and refined. . . . best of all, she's got more common sense than any girl I ever remember meeting. She has no business holding it down a job like this. I can't expect to keep her forever . . . too intelligent."

"That's just the way I feel about her!" Gordon exclaimed warmly. He paused in his stride and beamed at Marsh. "You can't blame me for falling in love with her!"

"No," was the cheerful admission. "And because she has so much good sense, I can't see that there is the least danger of her falling for you. I'm not worried a bit."

"So that's it."

Gordon stared out through the nearest window. His mind was filled with the vision of Thora Dahl as he had seen her not long ago. Astride a restive pony. Her golden hair blowing about her face with its shining blue eyes. Filled with the joy of living. And now . . . out in a hot kitchen, more than likely. Figuring menus with an Irish cook. And all for a lot of people who had never had to bother where meals were coming from. Thora Dahl ought to be out in the sunshine where she belonged. . . . with Sherman Gordon.

MAN OF 96 AND WIFE, 28, AWAIT STORK'S SECOND VISIT

New Bern, N. C. (AP)—At 96 George Isaac Hughes awaits the event that will make him a father for the second time within 17 months. His 28-year-old wife expects the birth of their second child—his eighteenth—in May.

Following the birth of his son Franklin Delano on December 23, 1931, Hughes' claim as America's oldest father was confirmed by a group of specialists in a report published in the American Medical Journal. Franklin now is a husky lad considered by doctors to be in perfect physical condition.

The Hughes' new child, lacking less than four years of being 100 years younger than its father, will have a "big brother" 59 years its senior. He is Benjamin Hughes, oldest living child of Hughes, born during the administration of President Grant.

Hughes has been married twice. His first wife, Sarah Ellen, bore him 16 children. He married the present Mrs. Hughes in 1933.

Hughes prides himself on living simply. He attends church regularly, loves old hymns and believes that honesty and hard work pay big rewards.

she killed the industrialist. She gave it into his keeping in July, 1935, she testified.

When Gebhardt attacked her, she declared, she recalled having seen the gun in a drawer and grabbed it.

Samuel S. Leibowitz, her counsel, objected to some questions about the expiration of her permit to possess a revolver.

"If a homicide is justifiable," Judge Collins said, "within the meaning of the law, it would not make any difference whether she had a permit or not."

Earlier, she had told him, she said, that their many months of intimacy were at an end because he was "practicing deception" on his wife in Germany.

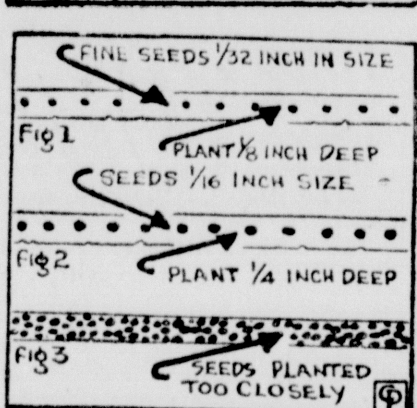

Responding to his telephone call for assistance, she said, she threw a coat over her nightgown and hurried to his room.

In answer to her protests, she said, Gebhardt pulled her into his arms and told her, "you'll do everything I want you to."

"I was horrified," Miss Stretz declared. "I said, 'God no, never!' I remembered the gun and I took it in my hand."

"He said, 'you damned—, I'll kill you.' He grabbed my hand and pulled me toward him and I pulled away and that's when the gun went off. He fell on the bed and staggered up again and I shot him again."

Seed planting guide.

By DEAN HALLIDAY

SEEDS should be put to bed as carefully as babies if they are to grow into strong and healthy plants. There are many right and wrong ways of planting seeds, of which two right and one wrong way are illustrated above.

Fig. 1. Shows the correct depth for planting very fine seeds. Seeds as small as one-thirtieth of an inch in size should only be planted four times as deep as their size or in this case, one-eighth inch deep.

Fig. 2. Shows correct spacing for seeds one-sixteenth of an inch in size, as well as the correct depth of planting, or one-fourth inch deep.

Fig. 3. Shows a common gardening mistake—seeds planted in a drill but too closely together.

With exceedingly fine seeds, such as those of the snapdragon and petunia, it is best to mix them with ten times the amount of sand before sowing. For example, mix one teaspoon of such seeds with ten teaspoons of sand.

New Grain Storage Bin Is Planned For London

London, O., March 31.—(AP)—Erection of a 170,000 bushel concrete grain storage bin will get underway shortly. F. J. Wood & Sons, grain elevator operators, said today the storage plant would be one of the largest in the country.

Honolulu, T. H. (AP)—Tree planting by air has passed the experimental stage here. Four army bombers recently sowed a ton of seeds on mountain ridges virtually inaccessible on foot.

HAUPTMANN BREAKS AS EXECUTION NEARS

not see her husband again alive apparently.

Hauptmann was prepared for the chair this morning, a spot on his head being shaved closely.

Hauptmann told his guards, they reported:

"I have saved three lives in my life, and they take mine on built-up evidence." His reference apparently was to his claim that he rescued three persons from drowning.

While the last act of the "most famous criminal case in the world," was approaching enactment here, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, parents of the murdered child, continued to shun the public light in England.

Colonel Lindbergh is spending much time perfecting a mechanical heart and lungs, a scientific venture in which he has been engaged for some time.

The Rev. John Matthiesen, spiritual adviser to the condemned man, visited Hauptmann during the morning, but when he asked Hauptmann to pray he received the reply: "I cannot concentrate now."

The minister said he would go later in the day to Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, the judge who presided at Hauptmann's trial, in a last desperate effort in behalf of the prisoner.

Hauptmann got a new cell in the deathhouse today.

After the condemned man's head had been shaved and he was otherwise "prepared" for the execution tonight he was moved from the cell he has occupied since his arrival at the state prison on February 17, 1935.

Warden Kimberling said this "is the usual procedure in case there is anything hidden in the cell."

The square, dirty-white execution chamber at the state prison was ready. The chair has been tested, the witnesses summoned, the executioner engaged.

After eighteen months of desperate legal struggle to slip from under the crushing weight of the ransom money found in his possession, the man from Kanzen, Germany, apparently has finally exhausted every weapon of escape.

The hour set for his execution is 8 o'clock, but a Philadelphia gangster-killer will give Hauptmann a few more precious moments of life. The gangster, Charles Zied, also is to die tonight, and because he is to go first, Hauptmann will live twenty—perhaps thirty—minutes longer than he would if he alone were to feel the electric death stroke tonight.

There was the possibility that Hauptmann himself might supply the sensation of the last day by making a confession or some statement the importance of which might be great enough to bring at least a delay in the execution.

There was a report last night from a source close to the government that Hauptmann had sent out word to his wife, Anna, that he might "talk more." Mrs. Hauptmann denied it. Officials said they had heard nothing of it. But the report persisted.

If such a development should occur, the pardons court conceivably could be reconvened.

Principals in the case that for all the days since March 1, 1932, has astonished and horrified the world, were widely scattered as the hour of punishment neared.

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, parents of the child who was snatched from his crib that blustery night and whose body was

MARKETS and FINANCIAL NEWS

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

By VICTOR EUBANK

New York, March 31.—(AP)—The stock market put on a crawling rally.

With the ticker tape only a foot or so a minute during the greater part of the session, a few buyers lifted some of the steels, motors, rails and specialties fractions to around 3 points.

Among the principal share gainers near the start of the fourth hour were Case, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Midland Steel Products, General Motors, Chrysler, Safeway Stores, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Bendix Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union, International Nickel, Anaconda, N. Y. Central and Santa Fe. Many issues were unchanged and there were scattered losers. Johns-Manville was off 3 and Pajardo Sugar and Union Pacific yielded more than a point each.

The French franc fell back after an early recovery. Bonds exhibited a steadier tone. Commodities were mixed. Sugar futures were at new highs for the season.

found later buried under sticks and dead leaves not far from the Lindberghs' Soudland Hills estate, were in England—exiled from their native America by the notoriety born of their great tragedy.

Mrs. Dwight Morrow, grandmother of the Lindbergh baby, was at Hangchow, China, with her daughter Constance.

Dr. John F. Condon, who became known everywhere as "Jafsie" because of the ransom negotiations he conducted under the name manufactured from his initials, and who paid the $50,000 ransom money in a Bronx cemetery to a man he later said was Hauptmann, was at his home in the Bronx, continuing to shun discussion of the case in which he was a leading actor.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz, the Russian born attorney general who prosecuted Hauptmann planned to remain at his home in Perth Amboy.

"The case is closed, as far as I am concerned," he said last night. The prisoner's wife spent the night in a Trenton hotel. Where she planned to remain tonight when the hour of her husband's death arrived was not disclosed.

BRICK AND TILE PLANTS REMODELING

Columbus, O., (AP)—G. W. Denison of Cleveland, declared Monday night at the American Ceramics Society convention here that 200 brick and tile plants scattered throughout the country must spend an average of $500,000 each for renovation.

Children's Gas Masks Simplified

Moscow (AP)—Orders have been given for mass production of a special gas mask for children which, although of a simplified design, is said to be as effective as the masks issued for adults. The government aims to supply all inhabitants of the principal cities with masks within a year.

WOOL MARKET

Boston, March 31.—(AP)—(U. S. Dept. Agr.)—Easing was apparent in the Boston market for fleece wools. Early shorn medium clips from midwestern states were available at around 38 cents in the grease delivered east. These wools were lots comprised of combing and clothing staple of 3/4 and 1/4 blood grades. The prices at which these new wools were offered were estimated to be equivalent to around 40-41 cents in the grease for strictly combing 3/4 blood and 1/4 blood Ohio fleeces graded in Boston. While the quantities offered were small, the demand was even smaller, thus causing a weakness in the tone of the market.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN

Chicago, March 31.—(AP)—Lurching downward almost 3 cents a bushel, wheat today smashed season low price records for new crop futures, July and September.

Snowfall, this afternoon in Kansas, together with prospects of plentiful further supplies of moisture tonight and tomorrow both in Nebraska and Kansas were expected to end protracted drought that has been imperiling wheat crops. Breaks in wheat values were in the face of news that Canadian wheat exports today totaled about 1,000,000 bushels.

Wheat closed weak, 1 1/2@2 1/4c under yesterday's finish, May .95 1/2 @%, July .85 1/2 @%; corn 3/4 @1 1/4c down, May .60@60 1/2; oats 3/4 @1/2c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15 cents.

BATTLESHIP PLANES TO HALT BOMBERS
URGED FOR BRITAIN

London (AP)—Plans for a new type of fighting airplane, with a speed of close to 400 miles an hour, and equipped with long-range "cannon" as well as machine guns, have reportedly been placed before the British air ministry.

Such machines are advocated as the answer to the ever-increasing speed of the military bomber and the need of heavier armaments in the air to check the advance of bombing units.

Experts who favor this new type of fighting machine argue that the days of "dog-fighting," with rapidity of maneuver the important factor, are drawing to a close.

Future combats in the air, it is stated, will be decided by speed plus gun power, rather than by twisting, wheeling, turning planes.

The machine suggested would be twin-engined, with tremendous climbing speed. Two 20 mm. guns would be part of the equipment.

INJUNCTION STOPS
THE LIQUOR BOARD

Columbus, Ohio, (AP)—John A.
Coadey, restaurant operator, was granted a permanent injunction
Monday by Common Pleas Judge
Dana F. Reynolds against enforcement of the State Board of Liquor Control's regulation prohibiting permit holders from having outside signs advertising brands of beer, liquors and wines. Wellington T.
Leonard, board member, said consideration of an appeal would be studied.

A LIGHT SMOKE
OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

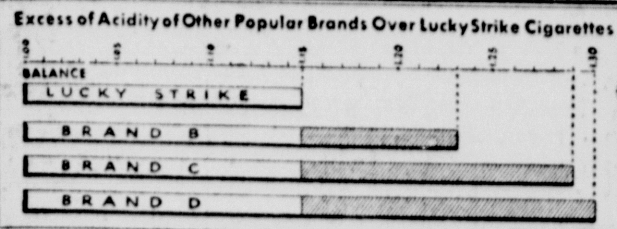

The simple mechanical details of cigarette manufacture are of surprising importance. Upon them depend the physical properties of the cigarette, such as weight, size, firmness, moisture-holding properties, uniformity of fill, uniformity of product—all of which have a far-reaching effect on the character of its combustion and the constituents of its smoke.
In the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes all of these properties have been standardized with care for the perfection of A LIGHT SMOKE.
